

Why You Need a Will

Making a Will does not signify the end – it secures the future. There are many reasons why you should make a Will to achieve peace of mind for yourself and your loved ones.

It allows you to...

Choose who'll be in charge of winding up your affairs (your Executors)

Ensure your Executors can deal with your estate more efficiently and effectively

Leave a gift or your estate to your chosen charity

Leave a legacy or keepsake to a friend

Get unbiased independent advice

Specify who is to benefit from your estate

Set your funeral wishes

Appoint guardians to look after young children or make provisions for your pets

Establish a trust to protect assets for specific people

Protect your assets from possible future care home fees

Ensure a smooth transition or sale of any businesses you own
